Notice to School Teachers—Public Examination and Normal Class.
All persons who desire to teach in the public schools of this county, are requested to meet at the High School room on Wednesday, the 19th inst., at 2 o'clock, p. m., for the purpose of organizing a Normal Class to receive a thorough drilling in all those branches required by the school law of our State. All teachers and those wishing to teach throughout the county are earnestly requested to join the class as soon as possible, or give some weighty and convincing reason to me for not doing so. The session will continue from four to six weeks. Tuition, gratis. The class will be under the direct supervision of experienced normal teachers. At the close of the session there will be a public examination, and those holding certificates about to expire are respectfully informed that said certificates will not be renewed without re-examination; and it is further expected that every teacher will exhibit an advance of from five to ten per cent, on the marking of last year. It is hoped and expected that every person who intends to occupy the position of teacher in this county will make an earnest effort to attend.

School officers and all others interested in the cause of education are cordially and earnestly invited to encourage us by their presence.
Persons attending are requested to bring such text books on each of the branches as they may have in their possession.

For these valued and affectionate services the afflicted parents are sincerely grateful.

Life Insurance.
We call attention to the fact that the Equitable Life Insurance Company, of New York, is now in the city, and is offering a comparatively small sum of money, by means of which a man may increase his present property, may secure instantly a sure support for those dependent upon him, or provide for himself a snug sum to be paid fifteen or twenty years hence.

Sykes' Address.
Hon. William Sykes, of Memphis, president of the projected Cairo and Tennessee River Narrow Gauge railroad, delivered an address on the subject of this new enterprise to a good audience in the council chamber last evening. He urged the citizens to encourage the proposed road, but how they feel about the matter as they are very ticklish in regard to railroads, owing to past experience, we do not know.

Party at Mound City.
The Mound City string band gave the closing party of the season, at Stokes' hall last evening. A number of ladies and gentlemen of this city were honored with invitations, but we have heard of none from Cairo who were in attendance. A pleasant time was anticipated by our Mound City friends, and we doubt not was realized, as the people of that burg generally conduct affairs of this kind in first-class style.

The Race Yesterday.
The race spoken of in the BULLETIN yesterday morning, came off at the appointed time yesterday. The contestants were a pedestrian named O'Hare, and Mr. Frank Warren's trotting horse Beauty. Mr. O'Hare agreeing to walk a quarter of a mile, while Beauty trotted double that distance. Mr. O'Hare won by about twenty-five yards. The race was gotten up merely for a little fun for the boys, who made up a purse after it had come off, which they presented to compensate him for his trouble.

Rothchild's Great Show.
The entree of this vaired aggregation, comprising circus, menagerie and museum, into the city this morning, will present quite an imposing spectacle. The chariots, cages, elephant, camels and horses, will form an interesting scene, and evidently please the larger multitude that will through the route. Since Barnum has settled down to the business of keeping his vast hippodrome in New York, there is no rival to the present great show traveling under the able administration of James DeMott.

The menagerie is of unusual extent and excellence. Not only does it contain a fine collection of beasts, with which people are generally familiar, but it boasts of some rare and peculiar features in animals and birds, not usually found in the traveling caravan. Cleanliness and perfect order are especially noticeable in the menagerie tent, which is new and spacious; and the animals of every species are kept in superb condition.

The performances in the ring will be fully up to the standard requisite for a first-class entertainment, and will be in many instances difficult and skillful exhibitions. The stand is large, and the major part of the horse-flesh of fine form, color and mettle. In the ring the performance will commence with the grand tournament, in which the display of equestrianism, heightened by brilliant costumes and properties, form an attractive feature, followed by skillful bareback riding by the accomplished horseman, Dutton; graceful and daring double trapeze act, by the renowned Leslies; a very finished and hazardous equestrian act by Madam Josephine; vaulting and gymnastic performances by the trained elephant, monkeys and dogs, and an almost endless variety of novelties and amusements, to numerous to describe.

One good thing about the circus is the fact that not a coarse jest, or discourteous act will be allowed throughout the entire performance, and it can safely be visited by respectable people.

Mr. Frank E. Willis, well known as a curiosity caterer, will have erected a beautiful new tent, adjoining the menagerie pavilion, where he will have on exhibition the smallest people of all Europe, Major Moringo and wife; Madam Laroze's troupe of Bohemian glass blowers; Prof. C. G. Howard and his performing band of African Box Constructors, and East India box mystery; Marsien and his performing French bears, and Prof. Calvin the great English marionette artist. A trip to his museum will pay, and such an exhibition should be well patronized.

The C. and T. R. R.
Hon. William Sykes, of Memphis, delivered an address on the subject of the proposed Cairo and Tennessee River railroad at the council chamber last evening. There was but a small assembly present. In the course of his speech, Mr. Sykes said:
"This road can be built cheaper than any road has been built in the whole country. The cost of the local work, including grading and bridging, will be from Cairo to Mayfield, a distance of forty miles, $100,000; from Mayfield to the Tennessee river, a distance of seventy miles, $185,000, making the entire cost of the local work, from Cairo to the Tennessee river, to a point near Johnsonville, a distance of one hundred and ten miles, $345,000.
It will cost $550,000 to iron and equip the road from Cairo to the Tennessee river, making the whole cost $905,000.
This is a large estimate, and the actual cost will probably be less than the amount here stated. The most difficult and costly portion of the road will be between Cairo and Mayfield, with in the first six miles from Cairo, across the bottom. After running through the bottom the grading will be very light all the way to the Tennessee river. The whole cost of this road from Cairo to the Tennessee river will be a million of dollars, and the value of farm products in the counties through which it is to run exceeds five million dollars per annum.
The road would bring to Cairo more than all the railroads which are here. You have railroads to St. Louis, to Evansville, to Nashville, to Mobile, to New Orleans, to St. Louis, to Chicago; and one, the Cairo and Vincennes road, running in a northeast direction. You have no road running southeast, toward Columbia, Tennessee, Huntsville, Alabama, and Savannah, Georgia. This road will fill that gap. If it can be built from Cairo to Mayfield, there will be no difficulty in extending it through West and Middle Tennessee into North Alabama, and thence to the Atlantic ocean. The difficult point is in making the start.
It is 185 miles to Columbia, and two hundred and sixty to Huntsville, Alabama, from Cairo. This road will run through the best tobacco and grain regions in West Tennessee and Kentucky; and after it crosses the Tennessee river it will run through the finest iron region in Middle Tennessee, Hickman county, from which place iron can be delivered in Cairo at three dollars per ton, which is equal to any in America.
The value of farm products between Cairo and Huntsville, Alabama, is greater than in any other two hundred and sixty miles from Cairo.
At present, very little of any of this trade reaches you. Counties within twenty and forty miles of this place find a market elsewhere on account of not having a road.
It is for your people who are so deeply interested to devise the ways and means to build it. I am aware that you have been terribly embarrassed, that you have been exceedingly liberal in building roads, which as yet have not done you much good. One-fourth of the money spent on a road would secure the building of this road, which would, as I before remarked, bring you more trade than all of them now do.
The cheapness of this road would, I am satisfied, make it a good investment for capital. It would take in as gross earnings at least $2,000 per mile each year, and allowing one-half for running expenses would leave $1,000 per mile as net earnings, which would be more than ten per cent upon its cost.
All railroads built by the liberality of a city or town should be run as far as possible in the interest of that city or town. Is that the case here in Cairo? Are they not run in fact, so as to injure rather than benefit the place?"

Cancers Cured.
Dr. Hebert Claffin of the Northwestern Cancer Institute No. 1373, Washburn avenue, Chicago, will be in Cairo, at the St. Charles hotel, April 21st and 22nd to treat patients for this dreaded disease. Cancers may be surely, speedily and permanently cured, in all its forms, if taken before the patient is too far gone—without the use of the knife, with little or no pain, and without debilitating the patient. This remedy was discovered by Dr. Claffin, and is known only to himself. Having tested its efficacy thoroughly during twenty years' practice, he is prepared to guarantee an absolute and permanent cure in every case he undertakes.
